This special satellite session, HIV in Corrections and Beyond: Progress and Challenges, will highlight the critical work being done in the area of HIV prevention, diagnosis, and treatment among incarcerated populations - including linkage to care after release - by some of the nation's top researchers in the field. Speakers will also address the road ahead: shaping national priorities in HIV and correctional health from well informed public health, research, and justice perspectives. This promises to be an exciting program.

We look forward to seeing you there!
